PERSONAL DATA:

Date of Birth: June 11, 1961

Areas of Specialization: Research of the behavior and management of free-ranging, hunted populations of white-tailed deer, and human dimensions associated with hunting. Managing site-specific populations of wildlife for improved health and habitat quality. Promoting wildlife management by sharing my research and management results with the scientific community as well as corporate and private landowners through presentations, manuscripts, and workshops.

EDUCATION:

- 1990 - 1994: Clemson University
Ph.D., Forest Resources: May 1994
Dissertation Title: 'Studies on traditional rubs and the human dimensions associated with quality deer management.'
- 1988 - 1990: University of Georgia
Research site destroyed by Hurricane Hugo -- transferred to Clemson University. Committee chair at University of Georgia, Dr. R. Larry Marchinton, remained on Committee at Clemson University.
- 1985 - 1988: Southwest Missouri State University
M.S., Zoology: May 1988
Thesis Title: 'Scrape behavior and physical characteristics of scrapes and rubs of white-tailed deer.'
- 1979 - 1984: Southwest Missouri State University
B.S., Zoology/Computer Information Systems: May 1984
